This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THE PITTSBURGH CHRONICLE,

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING, BY

SIEBENECK & COLLINS,

NO. 70 FIFTH AVENUE.

The publishers of the CHRONICLE have spared neither pains nor expense to make it a first-class Family Paper, as well as a Journal which will meet the wants of the business men; and, in view of its large and influential circulation, and extensive advertising patronage, they feel that their efforts have been crowned with success. Being entirely independent in politics, its editorial columns are devoted to free and unbiased discussions on all topics of importance.

Especial attention is paid to the News Department, to secure varied, full, fresh and correct reports of events transpiring throughout the world, and ample space is devoted to Literary and Miscellaneous reading matter, thus affording a paper peculiarly adapted for family reading.

The Telegraphic Reports are full and complete. Besides the regular dispatches of the Associated Press, competent and energetic correspondents at all news centres of the country are engaged to send, by special telegrams, every item of importance up to the hour of going to press.

The Local News Department is also carefully attended to by accomplished and reliable editors, who furnish full reports of local and neighborhood interest.

The Finance and Trade Column will be found to contain accurate and early quotations of Gold, Stocks and Government Securities; the Home Markets, comprising the Provision, Grocery, Iron, Oil, Cattle and Tobacco Market. Full River news is also furnished.

Such being the general features of THE EVENING CHRONICLE it is but natural that it should be sought after by the entire reading portion of the community.

It is regularly delivered by carriers in the two cities and adjacent boroughs, and at most of the towns, stations and steamboat landings in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. In addition, thousands of copies are sold by newsboys and train agents, thus reaching homes inaccessible through or outside the ordinary range of carrier delivery.

It follows, that owing to the extent, character and nature of its circulation, the CHRONICLE is one of the very best mediums through which advertisers can reach the public.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

Published every Wednesday evening, contains FORTY-EIGHT COLUMNS of choice reading matter, and is one of the largest and most desirable family papers in the country.

WM. H. BOYD, Publisher,
Washington, D. C.

A specimen page of each of the books is printed in another part of this Directory, see index.

Either of the above mailed free on receipt of price. Address,
WIGGINS & WEAVER,
268 Superior street, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

GEO. S. BANGS,
Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870, the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

Marietta Directory, 1871-72.

The city of Marietta—the County seat of Washington County—is beautifully situated at the junction of the Ohio and Muskingum rivers, 204 miles above Cincinnati and 196 miles below Pittsburgh, Pa. It is regularly laid out with large town plat, wide streets—running with the points of the compass—neatly planted with shade trees, large public squares and commons dedicated to the use of the city. The first settlement west of the Ohio River, in the northwest territory, was commenced at this place the 7th of April, 1787, since which time the county has rapidly filled with an industrious and enterprising population. Washington County borders on the Ohio River 60 miles. The land near the river lies in large bottoms, whilst the interior is rough and broken, but rich in agricultural and mineral wealth. The county contains a population of 50,000, the city of Marietta, 6,000 inhabitants.

EDUCATION.

In point of educational facilities, Marietta stands amongst the first cities of the West. Marietta College was located here in 1837, and now ranks among the first of the country. Its alumni are found in the front ranks of every improvement throughout the United States, looking to progress in intellectual culture, and the advancement of education and good morals in society. The College has the finest library in Ohio, containing over 25,000 volumes. A magnificent library building has just been erected at a cost of over $25,000. It is to be used jointly as a library and memorial hall. The trustees and faculty, in answer to the demands of the age for increased knowledge in the practical sciences, have made arrangements for a school of Mining and Mettalurgy in connection with the College. The Public Schools, with large and comfortable houses, supplied with all the improvements in modern school apparatus, have attained a high position throughout the State, and, in consequence, have attracted many students from abroad, and furnish a first class common school education to all the children of the city without fee or reward. Marietta has long enjoyed the reputation of possessing the best system of common schools in the country, and to enjoy their advantages has attracted, as residents, many families from a distance.

MANUFACTURES.

Already Marietta stands well as a manufacturing place, and the day is not far distant when it is destined to be one of the great manufacturing centres of

MARIETTA.

Ohio. The country around the city is one vast, inexhaustible field of coal of good quality, especially for all manufacturing purposes, and, with the railroads now building, will bring a full and constant supply to our very doors, and at a price but little more than the cost of digging. One large rolling mill, the Marietta Iron Works, is in active operation, employing over 300 men, and investing a capital of $75,000 per month. All kinds of iron are manufactured at these mills; railroad iron especially is turned out in vast quantities, supplying rail for roads all over the West. It is supposed a second one will be erected during the course of the next year. A large chair factory is doing a good business, and annually ships hundreds of dozens of chairs, sofas, bedsteads, &c., to all points of the country. It furnishes employment to a large number of hands, and disburses no inconsiderable amount of money in the course of a year. A number of founderies and machine shops are constantly employed in filling orders, turning out engines, agricultural implements, stoves, &c., and supplying a vast portion of country. Prominent in this branch of industry, located at this place, is the Penn Brass Works, which manufactures all kinds of brass goods for rolling mills, oil mills, engine builders, steamboats, &c., which are supplied to a large wholesale and retail trade. Many steamboats are built here every year, and with the low price of lumber, and other materials, renders it the cheapest building point on the Ohio River. Several oil refineries have been erected here, and are doing a large business, and, being situated in the immediate neighborhood of the oil regions, produce a cheaper oil than foreign refineries can possibly do. Tanneries, flouring mills, bucket factories, planing mills, and woolen factories are all doing a profitable business, employ a large number of hands, and invest a fair capital. Carriage factories, hub factories, and a number of other manufacturing establishments are engaged in a profitable and constantly increasing business.

THE MARIS BOX AND WHEEL COMPANY, located on the corner of Front and Sacravia streets, with A. J. Warner, president, and C. K. Leonard, secretary. This company manufacture the celebrated Maris Patent Wheel and Box, and supply a very extensive trade. For description see advertisement in another part of this work.

MERCHANDISING.

Several wholesale dry goods and grocery houses have been established here and have been very successful in doing a large and constantly increasing business. Drug houses, hat stores, and hardware establishments are numerous and all doing a fair business in their line, and from the increased facilities for transportation must greatly increase the trade in 1871. The wholesale trade is in its infancy, but its location and facilities for quick and safe transportation will rapidly develop a heavy trade. The retail business is large, supplying, as

MARIETTA.

Marietta does, not only Washington County but the bordering portions of West Virginia. Marietta may be said to be a great produce region, judging from the amount brought to the city.

RAILROADS, STEAMBOATS, &c.

Marietta is connected with Cincinnati by the Marietta & Cincinnati Railroad, three trains leaving and arriving daily. This road connects at Parkersburg, West Virginia, 12 miles below, with the Grafton branch of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, making all points south, east and west readily accessible, and, with the Hocking Valley Railroad, at Athens, completing the northern route, and bringing it within a five hours run of the capital city. A road is also building, —the grading and heavy tresseling being mostly finished,—from this place to Pittsburgh, Pa., by way of Caldwell, Noble Co., crossing the Central Ohio Railroad near Cambridge, or Campbell's Station, Guernsey Co., O. This road will be finished during the next year and will open up the finest coal region in the country, almost the entire route through Washington and Noble Counties being lined with veins of excellent coal, varying from six to ten feet in thickness. A company has lately been organized and incorporated for the purpose of building an Ohio Valley Road from here to Bellaire, Belmont Co., and make the connection at that place with the Central Ohio Road, the right of way being already secured. With these roads in running order, Marietta will rank as the railroad centre of eastern Ohio. A line of daily steamers connect the city with Wheeling, West Va., and a tri-weekly line with Cincinnati, bringing it by water and rail, in close connection with all important business points of the country.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Eight miles from Marietta are situated the Cow Run oil regions, being, beyond a doubt, the greatest oil-producing region in the world, hundreds of barrels being produced daily. It is transported from here to the Ohio River by means of an iron pipe, a large engine being used to pump it into a tank on a hill above the oil wells, and from thence it flows to another large tank, capable of holding thousands of barrels, situated on the river, and there awaits shipment to every part of the habitable globe. The oil found here is of a light quality and is used in burning and almost all other purposes; it is found at a depth varying from 600 to 700 feet. On the east of the city, at Long Run, heavy oil, used almost exclusively for lubricating purposes, is found in large quantities at a depth of 15 feet. This oil almost entirely supercedes lard oil for machinery, &c. being much cheaper and equally as good.

Marietta is probably the healthiest city on the Ohio River, never having been visited by an epidemic of any kind. During the cholera season, whilst towns and cities above and below were attacked, Marietta remained perfectly free from its fearful ravages—the well paved, drained, and shaded streets being, no doubt, the preventive.

Four weekly newspapers are published here—three English and one German—all conducted in a highly creditable manner, and receive a fair share of public patronage.

The Children's Home, an institution supported by the county, is situated on the Muskingum River two miles above the city. About one hundred children are kept here, clothed, educated and cared for. This institution might be imitated by other counties with profit.

A large portion of the citizens of Marietta are Germans, and are noted for their industry, and as reliable business men, and to them the city is largely indebted for the fact that it is now fairly awakened from its Rip-Van-Winkle sleep and is rapidly progressing in all the elements of material wealth and prosperity.

NOW READY!

LIST OF POST OFFICES IN THE UNITED STATES.

CORRECTED UP TO 15TH OCTOBER, 1870.

The undersigned has just published a complete list of all the Post Offices in the United States, compiled by Wm. Van Vleck, from the Official Records of the Department, up to August 1, 1870, with a list of all changes up to October 15, 1870, IN TWO DIFFERENT FORMS, as follows:

1st. Alphabetically by States, with a blank line between each office and a blank column at side to make alterations and corrections; this book is designed particularly for POSTMASTERS, RAILWAY POST OFFICE CLERKS, and ROUTE AGENTS; is printed on Fine Writing Paper, bound in muslin, 975 pages. Price, $5. Will be very useful to Banks, Insurance, Telegraphs, Expresses, and all persons wishing to write up correspondence or enter private memorandums.

2d. The same book condensed, no blank lines or spaces, printed on ordinary printing paper. Price, $1.

The above books give the names of Money-order Offices.

WM. H. BOYD, Publisher,
Washington, D. C.

A specimen page of each of the books is printed in another part of this Directory, see index.

Either of the above mailed free on receipt of price. Address,

WIGGINS & WEAVER,
268 Superior street, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

GEO. S. BANGS,
Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870, the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

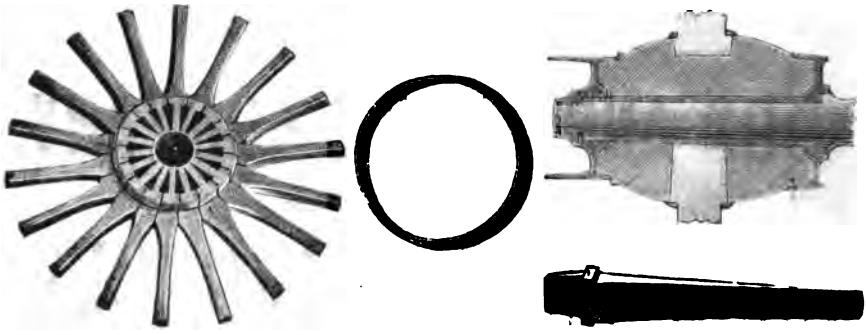
The Maris Patent Wheel

AND PATENT BOX.



It Combines Beauty, Strength and Durability.

THIS wheel is made by setting the spokes closely together in a groove around the hub, so as to form a compact arch, and also to secure greater lateral strength to the spokes by giving a bearing surface against the side of the groove in the hub, of the full thickness of each spoke.

An offset or shoulder is formed on each edge of the spokes to come even with the surface of the hub, onto which a steel or malleable band is firmly pressed, so as to bind the spokes in the hub independently of the tire.

In forming the solid arch we use eighteen spokes, four more than are used in the ordinary wheel, which gives more strength to the felloe and adds to the beauty of the wheel.

Thus put together the wheel is not only light and handsome but is the STRONGEST and most DURABLE wheel made.

A larger proportion of the wood is left in the hub to secure tensile strength than in the common wheel, and our

PATENT BOX

Is made to give additional strength besides, by a flanged bearing on the circumference, at each end of the hub, and tightening up by means of a screw connecting the point-band and box.—The cost of the Patent Box is but little more than the common box and is much better for any kind of wheel. The wheel can be used with any box.

Parkersburg Directory, 1871-72.

Parkersburg, West Va., is situated at the junction of the Little Kanawha with the Ohio River, on the southern shore of the Ohio and eastern of the Kanawha. It extends up each river a little over a mile, and occupies a plateau of remarkable beauty, extending about half a mile from each river, in a gentle assent from them, then rising to a higher platteau that extends back far beyond the limits of the city, with slight elevations and depressions that could scarcely be called hills and valleys; but the low lands of that section are very rich, as are also the Ohio river bottoms, extending several miles above the city, and unusually broad. These constitute the old Spencer estate, the brothers owning which were the brothers of Mrs. Gen. Cass. Their discendants now occupy it. The surface of the city is a sand loam, covering strata of sharp sand, clay and gravel.

There are some of the finest buildings here in the State—both of stores and residences. The churches of P. E. Methodist, Methodist Church South, Presbyterian, Baptist, United Brethren, Episcopal, and Catholic are of a high order, the latter the most elaborate and finest in the State. It boasts the best Court House in the State, and very good hotels and school houses; but the manufacturing business is small, consisting of only two extensive saw-mills, three foundries, two machine shops, a few smaller establishments for the manufacture of wooden and stone ware, and seven oil-refineries, turning out an aggregate of about 8,000 barrels per month. There are three banks with a capital of $500,000.

The Parkersburg Mill Co., is the name of a large establishment for the manufacture of lumber, doors, sash, blinds, and carpenter's materials generally, which they sell wholesale and retail. In connection with their lumber mills the company have an extensive flouring and grist mill. See advertisement in another part of the Directory.

The Novelty Foundry and Machine Works are owned and worked by Messrs. M. J. Leese & Co., who manufacture portable and stationary steam engines, mill machinery, oil well tools, &c., and do a thriving business. See advertisement.

In all respects the facilities for manufacturing are good. In lumber it is unsurpassed. The Little Kanawha navigable, at seasons, for fifty miles, abounds in the best of lumber of all kinds, and as that is now being locked and dammed it will soon be open at all seasons. Immediately below the city, extends for several miles a bed of valuable iron ore, not remarkably rich, but so situated that it can be profitably worked, while but fourteen miles back of the city are extensive beds of bituminous coal, very free from sulphur, and well adapted to the manufacture of iron. The deposits of light oil at Burning Springs are forty miles from here by Little Kanawha river, those of heavy and light, at Volcano, are twenty miles by railroad. The daily product of all the wells does not now much exceed 500 barrels. The Ohio river, always navigable below, opens the best facilities for shipment to the whole country.

The interior of the country generally, here, except upon the Northeast, is not fertile, but rather rough and wild, but remarkably well watered.

The B. & O. R. R. was completed to this point in 1856. Distance from Baltimore 384 miles, by M. & C. R. R.; 195 miles to Cincinnati. This distance will be reduced twenty miles by the completion, at an early day, of a new route to Athens, Ohio. The bridge, now nearly completed by these roads jointly, across the Ohio, will be one of the longest, most massive and elegant structures of the kind in the country. It will be about a mile in length, ninety feet high, longest spans 360 feet.

The population of the city proper is but about 5,000. Its health is uniformly good, enjoying entire exemption from epidemics of a fatal character.

HISTORY.

The first settler, we believe, of the State of Ohio, was on the farm below Belpre, opposite Parkersburg. The first settler on this side of the river was James Neal, from the valley of Virginia, with a large family, in 1778, and his descendants are among the most prominent citizens at this time. He had a grant of 400 acres about two miles above the city, where he erected a block house. He struggled on alone for some years, and then Mr. Isaac Williams settled twelve miles above, opposite Marietta. He was a remarkably good shot and killed many Indians, but never acknowledged he had killed any. There were many skirmishes with Indians in and around Parkersburg, but no battles that have a record in history. The ground on which now stands most of the city was patented, in 1789, by a poor man named Lewis, which patent was soon after bought by Alexander Parker, of Carlile, Pa., who held it until his death, and left it to his son-in-law, the late William Robinson, Jr., of Allegheny City, Pa. Thus came the name of Parkersburg. Wood County, including now most of six other counties, was taken from Harrison, in 1789. The first county court was held here Aug. 5th, 1798.

In 1817, the town was incorporated and continued slowly to improve, Robinson occasionally selling a lot to a settler. In 1807, Blannerhassett took up his residence on the island three miles below, which still bears his name. In 1812, the county sent 500 young men to the war, some of whom attained fame and some a grave.

PARKERSBURG.

In 1843, Mr. Robinson, sold out his remaining property in the city to a company of five citizens, all of whom have become wealthy upon the purchase.

NEWSPAPERS.

The Parkersburg Gazette was the first newspaper published here. It was started in 1836 by Mr. Joseph M. Steed, and John Brough, late governor of Ohio, worked on it as a journeyman for about a year, and afterwards became proprietor for a time. It passed into other hands and he left for Ohio. In 1840, it adopted Whig politics, passed through several hands, and is still published. The Daily Times, Gazette, Journal and Baptist Record now constitute the press of the city

The increase of the population was very steady but slow until the railroad was finished, when there was quite an influx of population. This was increased by the discovery of oil at Burning Springs in 1860. The developement of this was arrested by the breaking out of the war. The war, however, added another impetus as this was a base of supplies for a large portion of the army, and being on the border a large force was kept constantly here. A large majority of the people here were loyal from the commencement, and many volunteered in the Union army; but there were quite a number went to the South, and some fought and some went into public office in Virginia. All made a losing business of it. The celebrated Stonewall Jackson was partly raised here, and there are many of his relatives here now. Parkersburg was one of the first places in the State to declare for the Union and to establish the new State, to which she has furnished a large share of public men. Governor Boreman was the first Governor of the State, who served until 1869, and is now U. S. senator. is of this city. Governor Stevenson is of the County. Hon. P. G. Van Winkle, author of the State constitution, was six years in the Senate. Hon. J. B. Blair, first member of Congress, now Minister to Costa Rica, Hon. F. T. Jackson, Federal judge, and others holding prominent positions in the State, are also of this city, which boasts a fair bar and medical corps.

With the close of the war the oil furore broke out and for three or four years property went up, fortunes were made rapidly and some lost. Since that time it has improved but little, and the most that can be said of it now is that it ;t a quiet, orderly, beautiful place, and its citizens are hoping for better things.

Pomeroy Directory, 1871-72.

Pomeroy, the county seat of Meigs County, is on the Ohio River, 76 miles in a direct line southeast of Columbus, 80 miles below Marietta, and 234 above Cincinnati. It is situated on a narrow strip of bottom land from twenty to thirty miles wide, under lofty and steep hills, and at intervals extends back up the ravines between the hills, known as Monkey Run, Sugar Run, Naylor's Run, and Kepp's Run. The country in the interior is wild and romantic, and is better adapted to the culture of fruit and raising stock than producing grain, though some of the bottom lands produce splendid crops of corn and other grain.

Pomeroy was settled in 1816, the first settler being Mr. Nathaniel Clark. In 1827, a Post Office was established here, called Nyesville. The first mining commenced in 1833, when Mr. Samuel W. Pomeroy, formerly a resident of Boston, Mass., having purchased most of the coal land on the river for four miles, formed a company, consisting of himself, his two sons, Samuel W. Pomeroy, Jr., and C. R. Pomeroy, and his sons-in-law, V. B. Horton and C. W. Dabney, under the firm name of Pomeroy, Sons & Co., began mining on a large scale. About 4,000,000 bushels of coal are shipped yearly to Cincinnati and other places down the river, besides supplying steamboats with large quantities. The manufacture of salt commenced in 1851, and the annual production is about 6,000,000 bushels. The facilities for building up a large manufacturing centre are unsurpassed anywhere along the Ohio River. The pressing great want is a railroad, which will undoubtedly come here in a year or two.

The following are some of the census statistics for 1870:

Number of Dwellings	1,001
Number of Families	1,092
Number of White Males	2,718
Number of White Females	2,660
Number of Colored Males	248
Number of Colored Females	197
Total population	5,823
Number of deaths during the year ending June 9, 1870	119
Number of Manufacturing Establishments	39
Number of Business Houses	86
Number of Saloons	45
Number of Salt Works	6
Number of Coal Works	10

POMEROY.

1 Flouring Mill, 1 Machine Shop, 1 Rolling Mill, 1 Tannery, 1 Saw Mill, 1 Planing Mill, 2 Door and Sash Factories.

The Flouring Mills of the Pomeroy Flour Co. do a very extensive local and shipping business. See their advertisement on another page.

More than half the people are foreigners, mostly Germans. There are two newspapers, the Meigs County Telegraph and the Pomeroy Crescent, the former published Wednesday and the latter Thursday. Job offices connected with each.

There are twelve churches, four lodges of Odd Fellows and one lodge of the Masonic Fraternity. The city is divided in four wards, having a City Council of two councilmen elected from each ward. The corporation officers are Mayor, Marshall, Clerk, Solicitor and Treasurer.

Just below and adjoining Pomeroy is Middleport, a town of 2,236 inhabitants. Mason, directly opposite on the other side of the river, is a village of about 1,200 inhabitants, and has several salt furnaces. Minersville is just above Pomeroy, and contains some 500 inhabitants. Coal is mined and salt manufactured quite extensively at the latter place.

NOW READY!

LIST OF POST OFFICES IN THE UNITED STATES.

CORRECTED UP TO 15TH OCTOBER, 1870.

The undersigned has just published a complete list of all the Post Offices in the United States, compiled by Wm. Van Vleck, from the Official Records of the Department, up to August 1, 1870, with a list of all changes up to October 15, 1870, IN TWO DIFFERENT FORMS, as follows:

1st. Alphabetically by States, with a blank line between each office and a blank column at side to make alterations and corrections; this book is designed particularly for POSTMASTERS, RAILWAY POST OFFICE CLERKS, and ROUTE AGENTS; is printed on Fine Writing Paper, bound in muslin, 975 pages. Price, $5. Will be very useful to Banks, Insurance, Telegraphs, Expresses, and all persons wishing to write up correspondence or enter private memorandums.

2d. The same book condensed, no blank lines or spaces, printed on ordinary printing paper. Price, $1.

The above books give the names of Money-order Offices.

WM. H. BOYD, Publisher,
Washington, D. C.

A specimen page of each of the books is printed in another part of this Directory, see index.

Either of the above mailed free on receipt of price. Address,

WIGGINS & WEAVER,
268 Superior street, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

GEO. S. BANGS,
Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870, the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

Gallipolis Directory, 1871-72.

In February, 1790, a colony of French Republicans sailed from Havre De Grace to seek a home in the new world. They had been encouraged to this adventure by agents of a company styling themselves the "Scioto Company." These agents sold to the confiding adventurers false titles to large tracts of land, which they represented to be healthy, fertile, and easily improved. The colony landed at Alexandria, Virginia, in May, where they soon learned that they had been defrauded of their money and most grossly deceived in regard to the expected paradise they came to seek. The Scioto Company had no title to the land they pretended to sell, and the country was a vast wilderness, hundreds of miles from civilization and inhabited by wild beasts and savage Indians.

Many of the colonists returned to France, but the others decided to go forward. Leaving Alexandria, they journeyed through Winchester to Brownsville, on the Monongahela river. They here constructed boats, descended the Ohio and landed at the mouth of the Great Kanawha river on the 17th of October, 1790.

Soon after, they laid out the city of Gallipolis, in Ohio, upon a beautiful plateau, four miles below the mouth of the Great Kanawha river. The selection of this location was most admirable. Its streets are broad and beautiful, with grade just sufficient for good drainage, at an elevation fifteen feet above the highest floods that have ever visited this extensive valley; the beautiful and extensive Great Kanawha valley in front, and the Chicamauga and Raccoon valleys extending far in its rear, with fertile bottom lands, and hills containing inexhaustible mines of coal and iron.

In 1796, six years after the arrival of the colonists, they concluded a purchase of 900 acres of land, including the town of Gallipolis, from the Ohio Company, at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. In March, 1803, Gallia County was organized, with Gallipolis as the seat of justice. From this time its progress has been slow but steadily onward. The public sentiment of the community as a whole has been such as usually follows the nationality of its original settlers, broad and liberal both in religion and politics. The politeness and hospitality of its people is marked.

GALLIPOLIS.

The result of the census of 1870 is not yet made public, but Gallipolis claims a population of about 5,000 souls.

The present officials are, J. G. Damron, mayor; L. J. Langley, city marshal; with a good corps of assistants; Charles Menager, solicitor; William Nash, treasurer; W. S. Newton, postmaster.

The principal manufactures are four large flouring mills, with capacity for from six to seven hundred barrels of flour per day; two large woolen factories; two steam tanneries; two foundries and machine shops; two planing mills, with sash and door factories; one large furniture factory; one large carriage factory; two boot and shoe factories, and numerous smaller establishments.

THE GALLIPOLIS WOOLEN MILLS are owned by Messrs. Waddell, Blazer & Co., and the UNION WOOLEN MILLS by Messrs. Le Clercq & Co. Both these mills do a very large business. Their advertisements can be seen on another page of this Directory.

The streets are splendidly lighted with one hundred gas lamps, and gas works with a capacity of 18000 feet of gas daily.

The educational advantages of Gallipolis have always been good. Gallia Academy, a chartered institution, with a large fund, excellent buildings, grounds and aparatus, has had a long and successful career. The present Board is: Judge Simeon Nash, president; Reuben Aleshire, secretary; Franklin Carel, treasurer; John Hutsinpiller, Lewis Newsom, Francis Le Clercq, trustees; Edwin A. Cooley, A. M., principal; Mrs. Nellie Cooley, assistant, female department; Miss Alice S. Dwinnell, music; Monsieur Paul Henking, languages. The city schools are in the highest state of efficiency; buildings large and well ventilated, heated by steam of the latest and most approved method, supplied with all the modern chemical, mechanical, philosophical and astronomical apparatus. The grades are perfectly arranged, and the best of teachers employed. The School board is as follows: James Vanden, president; Robert Black, secretary; John C. Vanden, treasurer; Wm. G. Fuller, Henry R. Bell, John T. Halliday; H. J. Caldwell, superintendent.

Presbyterian church, Rev. Walter Mitchell, pastor. Methodist Episcopal church, A. Davis, pastor; I. T. Miller, presiding elder. Protestant Episcopal church, Rev. E. Gribbel, rector. Universalist, R. Brere, pastor. Baptist; Roman Catholic; German Protestant; colored Baptist; colored Methodist Episcopal.

Daily packet lines of steamers, making Gallipolis the head quarters for their business, run on the Ohio above and below, and up the Great Kanawha to Charleston, the capital of West Virginia. These, with the daily passage of Cincinnati, Wheeling, and Pittsburg packets, give this city abundant transportation.

Ironton Directory, 1871-72.

The city of Ironton was established in 1849 by the Ohio Iron and Coal Company, an association composed of twenty-four individuals and having for its object the development of the mineral resources of the Hanging Rock Iron Region. The first sale of lots occurred on the 20th of June, 1849. The lots were fast bought up, so that in a very few years a corn field was changed into a thriving village. In 1860, the population. was 3,691, and in 1870, it reaches 5,800.

Ironton is the terminus of the Iron Railroad—a means of transportation for the furnaces. This road extends back thirteen miles, and was riginally intended to connect with the Hocking Valley Railroad, distant only eleven miles from the northern terminus of the Iron Railroad.

In Ironton are two rolling mills, with a capacity of 10,000 tons annually; a nail mill which produces 120,000 kegs every year; a large stove foundry; a machine shop and boiler yard; two extensive furnaces; two steam saw mills; and a hoe factory. There are in the city, also, two wholesale groceries; three banks, (two national); two weekly newspapers, the Register and Journal; seven dry goods stores, ten grocery establishments; three hardware stores; two drug stores; four clothing stores; one book store; six hotels; three furniture stores; four jewelry stores, and two breweries. It has also eleven lawyers, five doctors, and two dentists.

The streets are lighted with gas. The gas company is in a flourishing condition and has now two hundred and sixty private consumers, and is constantly extending its pipes.

Ironton has thirteen churches: two Methodist, two Catholic, one Baptist, one United Brethren, one Presbyterian, one Episcopalian, one German Lutheran, one German Reformed, one Calvinistic Methodist, one Congregational and one Mission church. A congregation of Christians also worship regularly but they have no church building.

There are eleven secret societies, viz: Masons, two lodges of I. O. O. F., three Temperance Societies, Red Men, Druids, Knights of Pythias, Boilers Union, and American Order of Mechanics.

IRONTON.

The sustaining power of Ironton is the iron business. The iron exports of the city amount annually, in round numbers, to $2,500,000, and is made up principally as follows: pig metal, $900,000; manufactured iron $800,000, nails $500,000; stoves and hollow-ware $300,000. Eleven furnaces make it their shipping point and keep their principal offices in the town.

THE BELFONT IRON WORKS COMPANY, with E. M. Morton, president, L. T. Dean, vice president, Edward Norton, secretary.

THE LAWRENCE IRON WORKS have a capital paid in of $225,000. Mr. Cyrus Ellison is president, W. L. Keepers, secretary and treasurer, George H. Fisher, general superintendent.

THE IRONTON ROLLING MILL as reorganized and under the control of Robert Scott, Esq., president, John R. Williams, vice president and superintendent, Daniel R. Wolf secretary and treasurer. These works manufacture all kinds of hoop, band, bar iron, pig iron, spikes, nails, &c., which productions have acquired a standard reputation and find ready market. For further description of their productions see advertisement on another page.

THE OLIVE FOUNDERY AND MAHCHINE SHOP is owned by Mr. William Lambert, who manufactures all kinds of boilers, engines, and the usual articles made in a first class house. His pattern of hot blasts have been successfully tested and is not equaled in price or durability. See advertisement.

GUYOT'S GEOGRAPHICAL WORKS.

"INCOMPARABLE SUPERIOR TO ANYTHING PUBLISHED."—AGASSIZ.

GUYOT'S Introduction to the Study	$1 00	GUYOT'S Wall Maps. Small Series,	$18 & $25 00
GUYOT'S Elementary Geography	0 75	GUYOT'S Wall Maps. Intermediate Series	38 00
GUYOT'S Intermediate Geography	1 00	GUYOT'S Wall Maps. Large Series	71 00
GUYOT'S Common School Geography	2 25	GUYOT'S Wall Maps. Classical Series	45 00

These are the only works of the kind which proceed on the ground that Geography is a Science capable of being resolved into its elements; each to be presented in its dependent order, the same as with other sciences.

The lodgment already established for these works in the chief centres of educational opinion throughout our country, declares the correctness of their plan and methods; while the signal progress in Geographical teaching, observable on every hand since their publication, sufficiently assures the value of their ministry.

FELTER'S GRADED SCHOOL ARITHMETIC.

Felter's First Lessons in Numbers	$0 25	INDEPENDENT.
Felter's Primary Arithmetic	0 35	Felter's Intellectual Arithmetic	$0 45
Felter's Intermediate Arithmetic	0 80	Felter's Practical Arithmetic	1 00
Felter's Grammar School Arithmetic	0 95	Felter's Teachers' Manual	0 25

The first two books are fully illustrated, and present oral, mental, and written exercises systematically alternated, which render these little works especial favorites alike with teachers and pupils.

The Primary, Intermediate, and Grammar School Arithmetics embrace the whole framework of the Science developed by happily combining the Analytic and Synthetic methods.

COOLEY'S NATURAL SCIENCE SERIES.

COOLEY'S NATURAL PHILOSOPHY	$1 50	COOLEY'S TEXT-BOOK OF CHEMISTRY	$1 25

SHELDON'S OBJECT LESSON SERIES.

Sheldon's First Reading Book	$0 25	Sheldon's Lessons on Objects	$1 25

Tenney's Natural History of Animals	$2 00	Tenney's Manual of Zoology	$ 3 00
Tenney's Natural History Tablets			12 00

It is permissible to say, that Professors Cooley, Sheldon and Tenney are among our best cultured and most successful teachers—that their respective works, above named, are worthy of their authorship, and are recognized throughout the country as standard Text-Books; the very best in their several departments.

Portsmouth Directory, 1871-72.

It was a magnificent plan of empire conceived by Colbert, the great minister of Louis XIV., when, after Canada had been colonized by France; after the river St. Lawrence, with its grand expansions of inland seas, had been coasted by the missionary effort of Marquette and others; after the lower Mississippi had been discovered by De Soto, and after its entire length had been explored by the bold enterprise of La Salle, he undertook, by all the means which his master could be induced to place at his disposal, to surround the vast territory bordered by these immense navigable waters, with a cordon of missionary and military posts, looking forward, with the prophetic eye of true genius, to the time when the possessions, settlements, and control of these extensive and fertile regions, would render his beloved France one among the greatest of nations, and his august master eminently worthy of the appellation of "Grand Monarque," which was even then accorded to him.

Colbert, no doubt, hoped that while England held in colonial subjection the territory washed by the Atlantic and limited on the west by the Allegheny range, he could secure for France that more fertile and extensive region reaching north and west from the same ridge to the lakes and the Mississippi, or even to an unknown extent beyond.

But the colonies and mother country claimed title to an indefinite expansion westward, and in the early part of the eighteenth century took measures to secure their claims, by outposts and pioneer settlements, further and further into the wild and forest regions. France, as far as she could, pursued the same course, by pushing her outposts further and further eastward. Thus the two nations, rivals for centuries, with the English Channel only dividing them, still maintained their rivalry, though changing its theatre of action to the heart of the Western continent.

In carrying out this rivalry, the French saw the importance of controlling the Ohio river and its main tributaries. Hence, they established posts at different points on the Ohio and on the Wabash. On the latter was the important post of Vincennes. On the main stream, appropriately called "La belle riviere" they established several posts, and about the year 1750, built Fort Duquesne at its head, now the city of Pittsburgh. It was at a point about nine miles from this fort, when in the conflict for empire between the two nations, Braddock with an English and provincial force, was defeated by the French and Indians, in 1755.

Among the posts on the Ohio was an incipient one at the mouth of the Scioto, on the western side, begun, as is believed, prior to the building of Fort Duquesne. Among the evidences of the occupation of this point, is the fact that the American settlers, after the Revolutionary war, found a large area destitute of forest trees, the old stumps decayed, and an occasional fruit tree in their place. Ornaments and domestic utensils were also found, evidently belonging to a civilized race. And further, the writer of this sketch has in his possession a silver coronation medal of Louis XV., about the size of an old French crown, dated 1722, the year he ascended the throne, and having upon it a representation of the ceremony. This was found in Alexandria and had doubtless been worn upon the person as an ornament, for several fragments of silver chain were found with it, and upon its edge is a loop through which the chain was passed, and which is worn through, thereby, no doubt, occasioning its loss—one much regretted, we may suppose, by its owner.

On this piece of cleared bottom land, being part of survey 508 in the military district, patented to Alexander Parker, by patent bearing date February 15, 1798, and signed by John Adams, President, was laid out the town of Alexandria. John Belli, of French descent, who was much of a gentleman, with the dress and manners of polite society east of the mountains, was the agent of Parker. It was thought to be a fine commercial point, being at the mouth of one of the most fertile valleys in the State, and no more advantageous mode being known at that time for bringing out the produce of the valley and making returns in merchandise, than that of navigating the large streams that drained it, by keel and flat boats. This part of the State was then included in Adams county, the county of Scioto not being established until May 1803. The plat of the town bears upon its margin a notice by Mr. Belli that "the sale in Alexandria will commence at 12 o'clock, at the corner of Thomas street, on the river, on lot No. 19," dated June 4, 1799. A number of lots were doubtless sold on that day, although the earliest deeds are dated in 1802–3, the purchasers paying a part down and receiving title bonds to secure the purchase until the final payment. Among the names that appear on the earliest deeds, as purchasers, are those of William Russell, Philip Dyer, David Gharky, John Belli, Christian Bottleman, Thomas Waller, Thomas Collins, Conrad Thorne, Philip Moore and Stephen Smith. Thomas Collins, afterwards associate judge, was a boatman and established a sort of warehouse and store on the bank of the river. David Gharky was a German, a cabinet maker by trade, of good education, subsequently auditor of Scioto county, and a man of considerable influence in that early day. Thomas Waller was a physician, native of Virginia, and came to Alexandria in 1801 from Pennsylvania, with his young wife and infant daughter. They came on horseback, one of the two only available means at that time (the other being by river from Pittsburgh) bringing their child on a pillow held by turns before them. While a resident of Alexandria, Dr. Waller served one session in the Legislature. He had an extensive practice in his profession and subsequently became a leading citizen of Portsmouth.

Alexandria flourished for a few years, but the floods of the Ohio, then little understood, submerged the place on several occasions, the highest portions of the town being only about fifty feet above low water, and other portions less, while the ordinary floods were over fifty feet and the extraordinary ones over sixty feet above low water. This subjected the inhabitants to great difficulty and danger, and led them to consider the propriety of changing their location.

About this time Mr. Henry Massie, a brother of Nathaniel, who laid out the town of Chillicothe, purchased several sections of land on the east side of the Scioto, and laid out the town of Portsmouth. At the lower end of the town plat the Scioto approached within sixteen or twenty rods of the Ohio and then by a broad sweep receded and entered the Ohio a mile below at Alexandria, thus forming a narrow isthmus and a wide peninsula of comparatively low and heavy timbered land.

The plat of Portsmouth begins at the isthmus just named and extends eastward and northward, the Scioto passing off north leaving an extended area of high ground, portions of which are above the highest known floods and most of it above all ordinary floods. The earliest plat was made in 1802 or 1803, but the modified and permanent plat was recorded in 1805, from which time the settlement fairly begun. From 1806 to 1810, also, the people of Alexandria began to leave that place and remove to Portsmouth, the former place having proved itself unfit for a town. Some, however, lingered for years, being unable or unwilling to leave. By degrees the houses became tenantless, and racked by the floods or torn down for other uses, they disappeared, leaving but one, and that built of stone, standing, and still remaining, as the only monument of the French and American settlement of Alexandria.

Portsmouth was first built up at the lower or most western portion of the plat, just east of the isthmus, where the surface rose fifteen or eighteen feet above the level of that and the peninsula. Here was the first tavern, kept by Elijah Glover, and the first store, kept by Gen. Wm. Kendall. At this end of town the courts were first held, and, in fact, the principal business transacted. Dwellings—frames or cabins—were here and there scattered over other parts of the town. Dr. Waller built a hewed log house, afterwards weatherboarded, on Front street, above Court. Col. McDonald, brother-in-law of Gen. Duncan McArthur, of Chillicothe, built the first brick, at the lower corner of Front and Massie streets.

PORTSMOUTH.

The early settlers of southern Ohio hailed from several of the older States, the majority being from Virginia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. They came from all the different walks and stations in life. Many were mere adventurers without any fixed purpose, and were all impelled westward by the tide of emigration, then setting strongly in that direction, and allured by the promise which a new country, rich in undeveloped resources, held out to all.

Up to 1810, the country was so little opened and the population generally so sparse, that Portsmouth numbered but three or four hundred inhabitants, and the business for the most part, was but an interchange of products and commodities such as is incident toand necessary in all small communities.

From 1810 to 1820, the town steadily though slowly improved as the county and country around became cleared and cultivated. Mr. Wm. Ludwick opened what was then considered an extensive mercantile establishment. Other trading houses were opened, and the commercial advantages of the place began to be developed. A considerable business intercourse sprang up between Portsmouth and the upper portions of the valley, by means of keelboats and flatboats navigating the Scioto. Much of the produce—corn, pork, flour and whisky—was brought down in flatboats and reshipped or taken directly down the Ohio and Mississippi, sometimes as far as New Orleans.

During this decade the first Court house was built in the middle of Market street, between Front, (then Water,) and Second streets. It was a square brick box surmounted by a cupola, and had its counterpart in most of the county towns of the State.

In 1815, the first charter was granted to the town of Portsmouth. In March of that year the first election for common councilmen was held, and on the 15th of March the first council met, at which the following named members were returned: Thomas Waller, Nathan Glover, John Brown, David Gharky, Samuel B. Burt, Josiah Shacford, William Huston, William Kendall, and Nathan K. Clough. They organized by electing Thomas Waller, president, and Nathan K. Clough, clerk. At the same meeting they elected David Gharky, treasurer, and William Swords, marshal; they appointed a committee to draft rules and regulations for the government of the body, and then adjourned to meet at the house of Henry Sheely, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the first Monday of May following.

Under this form of municipal government the town received an additional impetus and public improvement, though on a very limited scale, commenced. Many new names were added belonging to citizens in active life, who had emigrated to or grown up in the town. Among these may be mentioned Samuel M. Tracy and his brother Charles, both lawyers; Ezra Osborne, also a lawyer and for many years common pleas judge; John H. Thornton, John McDowell,

PORTSMOUTH.

Dr. G. S. B. Hempstead and Wm. Oldfield, together with the families of Kinneys, Ludwicks, Clingmons, Noels, and many others, already in or entering upon mature and business life.

Portsmouth was early designated as the terminal point, on the Ohio, for the canal connecting the Ohio with Lake Erie, while Cleveland, the other terminus, on the lake would be the nearest point to Buffalo, the terminal point of the great New York canal. It was therefore thought that the Ohio canal would be an important part of the channel connecting the tide waters of the Hudson with the Ohio river, and that consequently the western terminus must become a very large and important shipping and receiving port.

In 1824, a preliminary survey was made down the Scioto valley, on the eastern side, terminating at Portsmouth. In 1825, work was commenced on the northern end of the Ohio canal, beginning at Cleveland. The work progressed southward for two or three years until the Scioto valley was reached, when through the influence of Chillicothe, it was determined to cross the Scioto river at Circleville in order to pass through the former place, which is on the west side. After this false step was taken, it then became a question of much importance whether the canal should continue on the west side to a point opposite Portsmouth, or recross the Scioto at a point below Chillicothe and enter the Ohio on the eastern side. After much deliberation the former course was adopted, which was another serious error. Daring the winter of 1828–9 the line was located to a point opposite Portsmouth, to reach which a wide, deeply overflown bottom had to be crossed. It was at first determined to enter the Scioto opposite the narrow isthmus, before mentioned, build a dam some distance below, and construct a lock in the isthmus, to enter the Ohio, the water in the Scioto at that point being some seven feet higher, in low water, than in the Ohio on the other side. Work was commenced on this plan and a deep cut made in the isthmus for the lock, but before it progressed further it was determined to turn the Scioto itself through the narrow neck of land, making for it a new mouth one mile above the natural one. This plan was opposed by the resident engineer, but he was overruled.

The citizens of Portsmouth were almost unanimously opposed to the west side location, but they hoped for the best and the work went on, and all but the last lock was completed in 1832, in the Fall of which year the first boat arrived. In 1833, a very considerable and increasing business was done on the canal, notwithstanding the difficulty of crossing the Scioto. Large numbers of emigrants, from Europe and the Eastern States, came from the city of New York, up the Hudson river, through the New York canal, across Lake Erie and down the Ohio canal to Portsmouth on their way to homes further west by steamboat. Sugar, cotton, and various products of the South, came up the Mississippi and Ohio to Portsmouth, and were here reshipped by canal for Lake Erie. Merchandise from the East, in large quantities, destined for various points in the interior of the State, came down the river from Pittsburgh, and were shipped on the canal, while canal-boats loaded with pork, flour, whisky, corn, and other products came down, and their cargos were reshipped here on steamboats, or on flatboats, destined for the lower Mississippi.

Portsmouth now began to realize her expectations; and the decade from 1830 to 1840 may be called one of great prosperity for the place. In the early part of it, or, indeed, for two or three years previous, many new business men were added to the previous list, and, throughout, the town received considerable accessions of business, population and capital. Several large commission houses were established. New mercantile firms came in and the old ones increased their business. Mechanics of every kind found remunerative employment, a large number of stores and dwellings were erected, and business generally flourished. Our largest wholesale grocery house, that of the Damarins, now in full tide of prosperity, was established in the early part of this decade. So, likewise, was the large rolling mill, now extensively operated at the upper end of town, built by Glover & Noel, but soon purchased by Thomas Gaylord, whose son and nephew still conduct it as principal owners.

IN SUMMING UP THE CITY'S ADVANTAGES:

From 1840 until the present time the history of Portsmouth presents a career of prosperity and advancement, varied only by the causes which have affected the whole country. In 1850, it became connected with the great system of railroads, and is now taking measures for further and more perfect connections. From a population of not quite 2,000 in 1840, it has increased to a little short of 12,000 in 1870, with a valuation of real estate amounting to $2,921,364, and of personal property to $1,781,105. The area of the city now includes the whole township of Wayne. Its streets present many fine blocks of business houses, with two principal hotels just completed, combining all the modern conveniences necessary for the large traveling public of the present day. In the city and suburbs are found many private residences of palatial features, with numerous dwellings of less pretensions, but fitted for most enjoyable homes. The wholesale trade of the city sums up its millions, with a retail trade in proportion, and in the Directory will be found the names and firms that transact this extensive mercantile, manufacturing and mechanical business. For fifteen years the city has been lighted by gas, and the city council are now taking measures for the construction of a system of waterworks. This is the shipping point for the products of numerous furnaces in the surrounding region of country; it has two rolling mills, one of which does an extensive business; there are several foundries and machine shops, furnishing all manner of castings and steam engines, for boats and manufactories; there is a hub and spoke factory employing many hands; a manufactory of shoes, employing the improved eastern machinery; and a large agricultural implement manufactory just going into operation.

In short, with superior commercial and manufacturing advantages, with a picturesque and healthy location, and with a spirit of enterprise among the citizens, not rash, but ardent and hopeful, the future of Portsmouth is every way promising; and there is nothing apparent to forbid an indefinite advancement in population, wealth and solid prosperity.

Among the representative manufactories now in operation in Portsmouth are the MACHINE AND BOILER WORKS of Moore, Murray & Co. The advertisement of this firm, together with that of the following leading commercial establishments, will be found in another part of the Directory. WHOLESALE BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, &c.—R. M. Lloyd & Co., Front street; R. Bell & Co., Front street. STAPLE AND FANCY GOODS—Damarin & Co., 55, 56 and 57 Front street. DRUGS AND QUEENSWARE—Ricker & Jones, No. 1 Enterprise Block. QUEENSWARE AND HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS—Pursell, Ewing & Co., No. 1 Enterprise Block. WHOLESALE GROCERS—M. B. Gilbert & Son, Front street; G. W. Smith & Co., 7 Front street. CLOTHING—Lehman, Richman & Co., 102 and 103 Front street. MUSICAL GOODS, &c.—J. L. Treuthart. COAL DEALERS—W. W. Little & Co., Front and Court streets. MINERAL WATER MANUFACTURERS—Newman & Bernardin. The TAYLOR HOUSE, kept by P. Prendergast, is a favorable resort for those seeking a first class hotel. The Insurance Agency of Guun & Reber represents more capital than any other agency in Ohio.

NOW READY!

LIST OF POST OFFICES IN THE UNITED STATES.

CORRECTED UP TO 15TH OCTOBER, 1870.

The undersigned has just published a complete list of all the Post Offices in the United States, compiled by Wm. Van Vleck, from the Official Records of the Department, up to August 1, 1870, with a list of all changes up to October 15, 1870, IN TWO DIFFERENT FORMS, as follows:

1st. Alphabetically by States, with a blank line between each office and a blank column at side to make alterations and corrections; this book is designed particularly for POSTMASTERS, RAILWAY POST OFFICE CLERKS, and ROUTE AGENTS; is printed on Fine Writing Paper, bound in muslin, 975 pages. Price, $5. Will be very useful to Banks, Insurance, Telegraphs, Expresses, and all persons wishing to write up correspondence or enter private memorandums.

2d. The same book condensed, no blank lines or spaces, printed on ordinary printing paper. Price, $1.

The above books give the names of Money-order Offices.

WM. H. BOYD, Publisher,
Washington, D. C.

A specimen page of each of the books is printed in another part of this Directory, see index.

Either of the above mailed free on receipt of price. Address,

WIGGINS & WEAVER,
268 Superior street, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

GEO. S. BANGS,
Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870, the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

VOLUME THE SECOND.

The Cheapest and Best Literary Journal in the United States.

Handsomely Illustrated Serials.

THE SECOND VOLUME of this "Great National Weekly" commenced November 19th, 1870. Among the contributors for the ensuing year, we may mention the names of

J. H. KINKEAD, J. PARISH STEELE, LINDA DISMUKES,
R. A. RILEY, S. M. HARPER, PHENIX DURIVAGE,
OSCAR H. HARPEL, W. HUBBARD KERNAN, Mrs. LOUISA CROWE,
"SELF-SHARPENER," Etc., Etc., Etc.

New names will be added, from time to time, comprising a host of occasional contributors to popular literary journals in this country and in Europe. Those who have doubted that a first-class literary paper could be established in the West, rivaling in the beauty of its typography and the excellence of its literature, those of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, are now anxious to acknowledge their error. The LITERARY JOURNAL is considered, by all who have read it, as a "live literary paper," unexcelled in every department.

For the present volume we shall "bate no jot" of the interest of this successful enterprise; but shall add to its variety by the frequent introduction of new literary features and fresh contributors.

Each issue contains from seven to ten pieces of poetry, of the choicest quality, from different authors, in connection with the short stories, the serials, editorials and varied departments, making a weekly olla-podrida of humor, sentiment and wisdom that will scarcely find its equal in the country.

☞ Sample copies will be sent to all who desire them. All letters must be addressed to Maysville Directory, 1871-72.

Maysville was for many years known as Limestone, from the creek of that name which empties in the Ohio. It was afterwards changed from Limestone to Maysville in honor of the owner of the land, Mr. John May, an intelligent and highly respectable gentleman from Virginia. In 1784, the first settlement at this place was made, and a double log-cabin and block house was built by Edward Waller, John Waller and George Lewis, of Virginia. The celebrated pioneer, Col. Daniel Boone, was a resident of this place in the year 1786, and erected a log house which still stands and can be seen in the rear of Mr. Hugh Gilmore's marble yard. During his residence here a party of seventy-five Indians came to the mouth of Fishing Gut Creek, the creek opposite this city on the Ohio side, to treat for the exchange of prisoners. Col. Boone, Jacob Boone, Col. Sharpe and Col. Logan went over to meet them. The wife of Col. Sharpe was one of the prisoners released. Col. Boone killed a fat beef for the occasion and the Indians had a feast and dance. The Indians were under a noted chief called Blue Jacket of the Shawanee tribe, and were so delighted with the entertainment given them that they made a solemn pledge to Col. Boone that if ever they met with a citizen from Maysville in suffering or captivity they would do all in their power to release them and alleviate their condition. This pledge they afterwards kept and released one prisoner whom they treated with marked attention.

The first school was opened by Israel Donaldson, in the year 1790, who at one time was captured by the Indians. The school house was erected where the City Hall now stands, and was used on Sundays as a place of worship by the different denominations.

The progress of Maysville has been slow but steady, and at one time was the point of reception, storage, and trans-shipment of all merchandise and produce imported and exported by the north-eastern section of Kentucky, and to this day there is no doubt but what the greater portion of the business of the interior part of the State would have passed through here if the Maysville & Lexington Railroad had been completed a number of years ago. As it is, there is every indication, at present, of its early completion, and our little city may look forward to better days. In the midst of one of the most extended, imposing and attractive landscapes of "la belle Reivere," surrounded by a fertile and highly cultivated country, directly depending upon and tributary to her, with railroads and facilities of transportation, Maysville must continue to advance in prosperity, population and wealth.

The amount of business done at Maysville is set down at $12,500,000. Three papers are published at this point, the Maysville Bulletin, Eagle and Republican.

LIST OF POST OFFICES IN THE UNITED STATES.

CORRECTED UP TO 15TH OCTOBER, 1870.

The undersigned has just published a complete list of all the Post Offices in the United States, compiled by Wm. Van Vleck, from the Official Records of the Department, up to August 1, 1870, with a list of all changes up to October 15, 1870, IN TWO DIFFERENT FORMS, as follows:

1st. Alphabetically by States, with a blank line between each office and a blank column at side to make alterations and corrections; this book is designed particularly for POSTMASTERS, RAILWAY POST OFFICE CLERKS, and ROUTE AGENTS; is printed on Fine Writing Paper, bound in muslin, 975 pages. Price, $5. Will be very useful to Banks, Insurance, Telegraphs, Expresses, and all persons wishing to write up correspondence or enter private memorandums.

2d. The same book condensed, no blank lines or spaces, printed on ordinary printing paper. Price, $1.

The above books give the names of Money-order Offices.

WM. H. BOYD, Publisher,
Washington, D. C.

A specimen page of each of the books is printed in another part of this Directory, see index.

Either of the above mailed free on receipt of price. Address,

WIGGINS & WEAVER,
268 Superior street, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

GEO. S. BANGS,
Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870, the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

Ripley Directory, 1871-72.

Ripley is pleasantly situated on the Ohio river, fifty miles above Cincinnati. It was laid out about the period of the war of 1812, by Col. James Poage, a native of Virginia, and was first named Stauntou, from Staunton, Va.; it was afterwards changed to Ripley, in honor of Gen. Ripley, an officer of distinction in the war. When the county was first formed the courts were directed to be held at the house of Alexander Campbell, in Ripley. For a time it was supposed Ripley would be the county seat; a court house was built, but before it was finished the county seat was permanently established at Georgetown.

Ripley is a large and flourishing town, and possesses many advantages for those desiring to engage in manufacturing. The population is between four and five thousand, and is composed of an enterprising, industrious and intelligent people. The business of the place, in imports and exports, will reach $4,000,000 yearly. It contains nine large dry goods stores; fourteen wholesale and retail grocery stores; two hardware stores; one queensware store; six clothing stores; four boot and shoe stores; two hat and cap stores; four drug stores; three hotels; two furniture stores; one saw and planing mill, door, sash and blind factory; one foundery; three thrashing machine factories; one plow manufactory; one carriage manufactory; two wagon manufactories; one soap manufactory; one piano manufactory; one newspaper office, telegraph office, town hall, &c., &c. In addition to these there are three banking houses—the First National, with a capital of $150,000; Farmers' National, with a capital of $200,000, and Savings Bank, with a capital of $50,000. There is also one Presbyterian church, one Methodist Episcopal, one Wesleyan Methodist, one African Methodist, one Disciple, one Christian, one Lutheran and one Catholic. One of the best union schools in the State is to be found here. The streets are well macadamized, and the town is furnished with gas, an efficient fire department, public cisterns, good wharves, &c. There are seven turnpike roads leading in different directions. A fine, large town hall, market house, &c., is being built, which will be an honor to the place.

The country adjacent, is of the best farming description, and Ripley is made the market for a vast scope of country reaching far back in Ohio and Kentucky. With a constantly increasing business, Ripley must soon become a very important manufacturing and trading point.

RIPLEY.

The enterprise of the people is exhibited in the magnificence of the public buildings. The Presbyterian and Methodist Episcopal churches are structures not to be surpassed scarcely in the State. The public school building is also a deserved credit, and the new town hall, which will combine a market house, town offices, public hall, &c., will be an ornament of which all will be proud.

"TIROSH."

UNFERMENTED WINE,

(WARRANTED PURE JUICE OF THE GRAPE,)

For Communion Purposes, and adapted to the wants of Invalids,

ENTIRELY FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

Prepared by JAMES REYNOLDS, Ripley, O.

371 Tremont Street, BOSTON, December 2, 1861.

MR. J. REYNOLDS:

MY DEAR SIR—The Wine, for which I am greatly obliged, came safely. It has been carefully analyzed by Dr. HAYES, of this city, one of the best chemists in our whole country. He does not find a trace of Alcohol in it. He says:

"I regard this fluid as the pure juice of the grape, clarified and protected from fermentative changes, and containing no deleterious substance whatever. It is also more perfect in the qualities of aroma, transparency and taste than any of the foreign grape juices I have examined, much of which reaches us in an altered condition."

The great problem is solved—thanks to Him who made the grape.

Yours truly, R. D. HUSSEY.

HE STILL LIVES?

In Ohio, many years ago, lived one G. BERCAW, a man of great enterprise and sagacity, and a remarkable Judge of Whisky, in which commodity he was, perhaps, the LARGEST DEALER in the State. His brands were favorites everywhere, from Maine to California. Fast young men and the oldest connoisseurs would drink nothing but G. BERCAW'S Chicken-Cack. Gold hunters in the far West would go double allowance of dust for a smell of his Willow Run, and the Indians on the plains would never bury the hatchet until guaranteed a full supply of Mountain Daisy. This same (old man) G. BERCAW is now living in Ripley, O., dealing largely in WINES and LIQUORS, and has a very large stock of the above and other favorite brands on hand.

Aurora Directory, 1871-72.

AURORA, 25 miles below Cincinnati, in Dearborn county, Indiana, at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad and the Ohio river, contains a population of 3,350, and with Cochran, which is but a continuation of Aurora in which is located the machine shops of the O. & M. R. R., and which has an addition of 675 inhabitants, making a total of over 4,000.

Aurora was laid out as a town in 1819, and incorporated as a city Feb. 14th, 1848. It is surrounded by a rich and fertile country, thickly settled, which makes it a place of considerable business. There is a large quantity of hay annually shipped from this point, varying from 90,000 to 100,000 tons. There are seven large warehouses, and a large number of flat-boats are annually built at the landing and sent off loaded with hay. There are three large cooper shops at which upwards of 300,000 barrels are annually made—most of them iron hooped petroleum barrels. There is also a large distillery, which mashes from 1,000 to 1,200 bushels of corn daily. A mammoth brewery has recently been erected at a cost of $150,000 dollars. There is a large foundery, at which a great quantity of machinery is manufactured for the South, such as cotton presses, hay presses, &c., &c. There are two flouring mills, a chair factory, planing mill, a large carriage factory and wagon factory. The machine shops of the O. & M. R. R. Co., adjoining the city, give employment to more than three hundred hands. There are two large lumber yards at which is sold over a million of feet of lumber annually. There are ten dry goods stores, three hardware stores, two book stores, two drug stores, and twenty-four groceries, (these do not include the stores and groceries in Cochran.) There are three large livery stables, two feed stores and seven hotels. Two weekly papers are published at Aurora, and there are Odd Fellows, Masons and Druid Lodges. There are six churches and a brick school house, one of the finest in the State, surrounded by a beautiful plat of ground, which is enclosed, of two and three-fourths acres. There are a number of elegant and ostly dwellings within the city—the First National Bank is an elegant speci of architecture.

Aurora being built upon elevated ground, and easily accessible to the rounding country, will always be an important point of business upon the O river.

Madison Directory, 1871-72.

Madison, the county seat of Jefferson county, Ind., is situated on the Ohio river, ninety miles below Cincinnati, Ohio, and is connected with Indianapolis and the interior of the State by railroads, while the navigation of the Ohio river furnishes ready communication with New Orleans, and all points South and West, by the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and contains a population of about 12,000 inhabitants. Madison being contiguous to an extensive lumber and agricultural region, is a very important shipping point on the Ohio, has caused the erection of many extensive factories, foundries, machine shops, flouring mills, planing mills, together with the various mechanical establishments and commercial and monetary institutions usually found in a city of its population.

We are reluctantly compelled to apologize to our patrons in not publishing a history of Madison, but the parties who promised to furnish it, have failed to send the manuscript in time for publication.

We will particularly notice the following manufacturing establishments, whose advertisements will be found on another page:

As Iron Founders and Machinists Cobb, Stribling & Co. are the pioneers, having commenced business in 1863, and worked with energy, combined with mechanical skill, until their present enviable reputation has been gained in the manufacture of their highly improved machinery. Amongst the articles in which they excel as manufacturers, we would name Circular Saw Mills; Fuel Saving Engines; Steamboat Engines; Drag Sawing Machines; Shingle Machines and Hughs' Patent Rotary Engines.

Messrs. Thomas Graham & Co. are engaged in the manufacture of Hubs, Spokes, &c.; their establishment has been in operation five years, and does a very extensive trade from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, and throughout the United States, being located in the best timber country in the West. They have on hand the largest stock, both of rough and manufactured material, to be found in this country; they also buy all kinds of timber adapted to their business.

The Madison Marine Railway and Ship Yard is now owned by Messrs. J. R. Stuart & Co. The former proprietors of this establishment were unfortunate in their business transactions; one of the partners was killed on the "United States."

The surviving partner, after an adjustment of claims, found himself a bankrupt. The present proprietors took possession in 1869, their success can be inferred from the amount of work turned out, viz.: Six side-wheel steamers have been built; five stern-wheel boats; nine cabins; five model barges with wrought iron hog chain works made and put up; also, twenty-two steamboats and five barges have been hauled out and repaired and furnished with new machinery. This firm gives constant employment, on an average, of from 125 to 150 men.

Among the leading Lumber dealers is Mr. John M. Todd, well known throughout the country; his lumber yard is constantly supplied with all kinds of lumber and builders' materials.

NOW READY!

LIST OF POST OFFICES IN THE UNITED STATES.

CORRECTED UP TO 15TH OCTOBER, 1870.

The undersigned has just published a complete list of all the Post Offices in the United States, compiled by Wm. Van Vleck, from the Official Records of the Department, up to August 1, 1870, with a list of all changes up to October 15, 1870, IN TWO DIFFERENT FORMS, as follows:

1st. Alphabetically by States, with a blank line between each office and a blank column at side to make alterations and corrections; this book is designed particularly for POSTMASTERS, RAILWAY POST OFFICE CLERKS, and ROUTE AGENTS; is printed on Fine Writing Paper, bound in muslin, 975 pages. Price, $5. Will be very useful to Banks, Insurance, Telegraphs, Expresses, and all persons wishing to write up correspondence or enter private memorandums.

2d. The same book condensed, no blank lines or spaces, printed on ordinary printing paper. Price, $1.

The above books give the names of Money-order Offices.

WM. H. BOYD, Publisher,
Washington, D. C.

A specimen page of each of the books is printed in another part of this Directory, see index.

Either of the above mailed free on receipt of price. Address,

WIGGINS & WEAVER,
268 Superior street, Cleveland, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

GEO. S. BANGS,
Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870. the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

MANUFACTURERS OF

PURE WHITE LEAD

DRY AND IN OIL,

☞ The following notice of guarantee, bearing our written signature, is attached to every package bearing our name:

REWARD.—We will give $20 in Gold for each and every ounce of adulteration found in White Lead of our manufacture bearing our name. We guarantee Strict Purity and a degree of Fineness and Whiteness unequaled by any other brand.

BEYMER, BAUMAN & CO.

NEW YORK, July 15, 1869.

C. T. REYNOLDS & Co., Chicago:

Gentlemen—I have carefully analyzed the sample of White Lead, branded, "Beymer, Bauman & Co.'s Pure White Lead, Pittsburgh," and find that it is PURE WHITE LEAD, ground in oil. It is entirely free from Baryte, and every other impurity or adulteration.

Respectfully yours, C. F. CHANDLER, PH.D.,
Prof. Analitical and Applied Chemistry. School of Mines, Columbia College.

Orange Mineral, Red Lead

Potters' Lead, Zinc Paint,

Putty and Colors.

CAUTION!

Certain unprincipled parties, attributing the large and increasing demand for our brand of White Lead solely to our "guarantee lable," are imitating the same, even to the color of the paper on which it is printed. We therefore caution consumers to examine carefully the Red lable on the side of the keg, and see that it bears our written signature.

As a still further protection to consumers, we now brand with stencil our "guarantee" on the end of the kegs, in addition to the Red Lable on the side of the keg.

☞ The unprecedented sale of our Lead can only be attributed to its STRICT PURITY, its UNRIVALED WHITENESS, FINENESS and COVERING QUALITIES.

Owensboro Directory, 1871-72.

Owensboro is situated on the Ohio river, 160 miles below Louisville, is built upon a large and level tract, with but a few slight undulations, and is entirely above the reach of the highest overflows. In point of population it is excelled by no city on the river, from the falls of the Ohio to Cairo, excepting Evansville and Paducha, and is rapidly growing in population and material wealth. It is surrounded by a body of land extending from its limits for many miles east, west and south, of remarkable fertility and productiveness, large quantities of which are cleared and cultivated by enterprising, intelligent and thrifty farmers; and the uncultivated parts abound in all varieties of the finest timber.

Tobacco is one of the staples of Daviess and adjacent counties, large quantities of which, of superior quality, are annually produced, for which planters find a convenient market at Owensboro, where the most remunerative prices are readily realized.

The corn crop yields from ten to twenty barrels per acre, and the return of small grain is usually excellent. Grasses of all kinds flourish, and as the change in the labor system will necessarily discourage the past laborious process of agriculture, this section of the country will encounter no difficulty in successfully competing with the stock raisers of the Blue Grass region. The prejudice long existing in older portions of the State, that the Green river country is unhealthy, is rapidly wearing away, since the reasons from which it sprung have almost ceased to exist. Statistics, no doubt, would show that diseases prevail here to no greater extent, and certainly mortality is not greater than in sections whose healthfulness is unquestioned. There has been a change in this respect, and it is undoubtedly attributable to the clearing up and permitting the sun to shine on the lands once shaded by dense forests from his salubrious beams.

Owensboro has always been so much a commercial place, that much less has been expended in improvements, and many of those made are less imposing, than those of other cities of less business importance and wealth. Many handsome residences, however, have been erected, some of which approach palatial magnificence. Twelve establishments, devoted exclusively to the purchasing, prizing, &c., of tobacco, find ample scope for their operations, and among them several millions of pounds are annually purchased and re-sold in domestic and foreign markets.

OWENSBORO.

Public attention has but recently been turned to manufactures, yet we already note two planing mills, one of which—owned by Messrs. Byrom, Marble & Co.—is the most extensive in the West. This firm have in their yards about $90,000 worth of assorted seasoned pine and poplar lumber, and they give employment to about one hundred hands. They furnish doors, sash, &c., as cheap as they can be furnished in Philidelphia or New York. We have one large Woolen Mill and Foundery, two Broom Factories, two extensive Breweries, a Furniture Factory, Carriage Factory, Barrel Factory, Spoke and Hub Factory, Pin Factory, Edge Tool Factory, and Stove Foundery in course of erection. Distilleries, saw and grist mills are numerous and flourishing, affording employment to hundreds of laborers.

Timber for manufacturing purposes is to be found in the greatest abundance, and of every quality and variety.

Coal, equal to the best Pittsburgh, is abundant, and can be delivered at ten cents per bushel.

Iron, equal to that produced by the Sligo works, in Tennessee, or the Sweed or Norway iron, can be produced from the ore to be found in the greatest abundance in the hills of McLean, Muhlenburg and Daviess counties.

RAILROADS AND STEAMBOATS.

We have a daily line of the finest steamers on the western waters plying between this city and Louisville, and Judge Weir, president of the Owensboro and Russellville Railroad, is sanguine of the early completion of his road to the Tennessee line. This road will place us in direct communication with the entire South, and active preparations are being made to form a connection with this road North, connecting us, North of the Ohio river, by rail, with the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, thus giving us direct communication with all the northern cities. In addition to this, a project is now on foot to construct a railroad from Chicago, intersecting the Owensboro and Russellville Railroad at this point, connecting us by rail with Chicago and Pensacola, Florida.

The Owensboro and Russellville Railroad will pass through a country inhabited by a thriving population, inexhaustible in the amount of its excellent timber, and abounding in coal and other mineral resources, it is confidently predicted that its construction will be the means of inaugurating an era of prosperity unexampled in its history.

Reasoning from the innumerable advantages she possesses, it seems not too much to prophecy that Owensboro will outstrip the foremost of her sister towns in Southern Kentucky, with the same facility that she sprang in the past from a small, modest town to a flourishing and enterprising young city of ten thousand inhabitants.

Paducah Directory, 1871-72.

[The following history of Paducha we take from Twyman's City Directory of Paducah for 1866. A new sketch of the city was promised, but failed to reach us in time for publication.]

JACKSON'S PURCHASE.

In 1815, all that portion of Kentucky, West and North of the Tennessee river, was occupied by Indians as a hunting ground. In 1816, General Andrew Jackson was commissioned by the Federal Government to treat with the Indians for the sale and evacuation of the territory, in which he was successful; and in 1818, the Indians having vacated the lands, the district was added to Kentucky, and organized into one county, called Calloway, with the county seat at Old Wadesborough. Col. William Curd was the first Circuit Court Clerk, in what was then known as, and is still called, "Jackson Purchase."

This district of country has since been divided and sub-divided into seven counties; viz: Calloway, McCracken, Hickman, Graves, Ballard, Marshall and Fulton; the new counties being organized in the order above named.

When McCracken county was first organized, the County seat was established at Wilmington, about ten miles below Paducha, and the first Courts held in a double log-house. Braxton Small was appointed Circuit and County Court Clerk—which position he filled, with ability and honor to himself, and to the satisfaction of all concerned, up to the election of those officers under the new Constitution of 1849.

Soon after the acquisition of the territory comprised in "Jackson's Purchase," General William Clark, of St. Louis, acquired from the Federal Government title to a large tract of land at the mouth of the Tennessee river, and, in 1827, he laid out a town at this point, and named it Paducah, in honor of an old Indian chief of that name, whose remains lie buried near where the late residence of James Langstaff stood in Jersey City.

The first house built on the site, now occupied by Paducah, was a log cabin, and it stood near where the old Court House stood, and a wood yard was kept on the bank, in front of what is now the Continental Hotel.

Soon after the town of Paducah was laid out, several lots were sold at very low prices—ranging from $10 to $40—this last price being paid for the corner lot, now covered by the Continental Building.

The first settlers were mostly poor and but indifferent farmers—relying more upon their rifles than their plows for a living—hence the real productiveness of the soil was a long time in being developed. It was not until 1845 to 1855, that the great value of these lands for growing tobacco became generally known, and they now rank among the best tobacco lands in the country.

In 1835, Paducah, then being in her infancy, experienced a severe loss, by the burning of all the houses in Front Row, between Broadway and Jefferson streets. The space was soon refilled with substantial three story bricks, which latter stood until the bombardment by the Federal gun-boats, on the 25th day of March, 1862,—the day the Confederate General Forest came into Paducah.

In 1851, our city was again visited by the "Fire King." The fire broke out in a stable attached to a frame hotel, on the corner of Main and Court streets, and soon crossing Main street, swept along the northern half of the entire square, consuming nearly every store-house that was, at that time, in the town. The two houses saved were Ratcliffe's corner and a fire-proof store adjoining, belonging to Judge Campbell.

In 1852, a charter was procured for a company to build a railroad from Paducah, to tap the Mobile and Ohio Railroad at, or near, Union City, Tennessee, sixty-two miles from Paducah, under the name of the "New Orleans and Ohio Railroad Company." The town of Paducah was authorized, by law, to take stock to the amount of $200,000 dollars, and the County of McCracken to the amount of $100,000. The people of the town and county came nobly up to the work, and voted to issue bonds to the above amount; and by liberal private subscriptions, the necessary stock was soon taken, and the work commenced.

At once Paducah took a start. New business houses went up; real estate in town and county advanced with a rapidity really astonishing, and the business of Paducah increased a thousand fold in a few years.

In 1852, the entire wholesale business of Paducah did not exceed $50,000 per annum, and in 1859, it had reached (in groceries and dry goods,) to more than $3,500,000.

In 1850, the population of Paducah was a little over 2,000 souls; and in 1860, it was, in round numbers, about 8,000;—showing an increase of 400 per cent. Boat building had increased rapidly; a large rolling mill and nail factory had been put in operation; substantial and most valuable (now the best on the Ohio river,) Marine Ways, for hauling out and repairing steamboats, had been built; a fine wharf had been graded and graveled, in a most durable and excellent manner; gas-works built and in full operation; her schools and churches were prosperous; and every thing was in full flow to prosperity and happiness for the beautiful "Plain City," of the West; when, "horror of horrors," the tocsin of civil war was heard afar off. As its echoes resounded from mountain to hill-top, and reverberated from valley to plain, it reached the quiet and peaceful city of Paducah.

PADUCAH.

FUTURE PROSPECTS OF PADUCAH.

As before remarked, the future of Paducah is upward and onward. Her citizens have come to learn the fact, that cities can not be built by relying alone on commerce and trade for prosperity, and they are now turning their attention to manufacturing.

There is no city in the West more favorably situated, and possessing greater advantages for manufacturing. From forty to sixty miles up the Tennessee river, there are inexhaustible mountains of iron ore, also, on the Cumberland river, some eighty or ninety miles above Paducah, and from either point iron can be shipped, and floated down in barges, or flats, thus saving the expense of steam carriage.

For the last thirty years, previous to the war, immense quantities of pig iron have been taken from the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, at a heavy cost, to Louisville, Cincinnati, Wheeling and Pittsburgh, also to St. Louis; where it was manufactured into machinery—and the machinery made from the same metal, shipped to points below, on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, where it was sold at high prices, to the planters.

Now, if Pittsburgh manufacturers could afford to take pig metal from the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, and pay freight and insurance a distance of one thousand miles, and manufacture and transport it back two thousand miles, to Vicksburg, Natchez and New Orleans, how much more money could be made by manufacturing at Paducah, where the first transportation of the original metal is only from forty to fifty miles.

Capitalists in large manufacturing cities saw, long since, the advantages of establishing factories at Paducah, and other points in our neighborhood. Hence, we see manufactories springing up rapidly at Evansville, Mount Vernon, Metropolis and Cairo; whilst taking Kentucky cities below Louisville to the mouth of the Ohio river, there is not, in either city, a foundery that can build a steam-engine.

That state of things can be accounted for upon the principle, that until recently, slavery existed in Kentucky, and the whole south, where slave labor could be more profitably employed in growing tobacco, hemp, corn, cotton, rice, &c., the existence of slavery kept out the white manufacturing labor. This labor has been confined to the manufacturing cities of the North and East, hence the South has been deprived of that manufacturing capital, and the labor necessary to build up large cities, and equalizing the balance of political power, between the Northern and Southern States.

By the war, slavery has been extinguished, and the South must turn its attention to manufacturing, and no place is better adapted to manufacturing than is Paducah; and if we have not the capital in our own midst, we must earnestly and dilligently apply ourselves, and invite capital from abroad. To succeed in this, the property holders of Paducah should offer the most liberal inducements to men who will come here, and with their skill, capital and industry, build up our city, increase its population, and advance its prosperity.

Founderies, rolling mills, machine shops, furniture manufactories, cotton mills, and flouring mills, should all be in operation in Paducah, to-day.

When this is accomplished the triumph of Paducah will be established, and our beautiful city will successully compete with any city within two or three hundred miles of the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Besides iron ore in abundance, there are immense coal mines, forty and sixty miles above, on the Ohio river; and within a few miles of Paducah, on the banks of the Tennessee river, there are extensive forests of white oak timber, said, by those who are judges, to be almost equal to live oak for boat and ship building.

Connected with all the Gulf cities of the South, by our New Orleans and Ohio Railroad, and as we will soon be connected with all the Eastern, Northern, and Western cities, by the Paducah and Vincennes Railroad, now under construction, it may be easily seen what the position of Paducah will be, as one of the central points and depots, in the commerce between the North and South.

All these sources of wealth and commerce, will be poured into the lap of Paducah, and her citizens made prosperous and wealthy thereby.

Notwithstanding the horrid ravages of war upon Paducah, its energetic citizens are dilligently applied to the task of rebuilding the destroyed property; and building other houses of all classes.

Among the manufacturing establishments now in successful operation, is the Paducah Planing Mill, which is owned by Mr. J. W. McKnight, who manufactures sash, doors, blinds, &c., and deals in all kinds of builders' materials.

Messrs. Jordan, Linning & Co. own a large Foundery and Machine Works, which gives employment to a great number of men. The advertisements of the above firms will be noticed on another page.

Cairo Directory, 1871-72.

The city of Cairo, the County Seat of Alexandria County, in the State of Illinois, is centrally situated in the Valley of the Mississippi, at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. During the season of navigation in the rivers above it, Cairo has river communication with the whole country north, from the Allegheny to the Rocky Mountains; and being below any obstruction in the river, by ice in the winter or low water in the summer, it has the same communication with all the Southern country and the Gulf of Mexico at all seasons of the year, without interruption. It thus has the advantage of cheap river transportation to and from all portions of the country the greater portion of the year, and with the South at all times.

By means of the Illinois Central Railroad in the North, and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad in the South, with their connections and intersections, Cairo has now convenient and direct railroad communication with all parts of the North, South, East and West.

By means of the Cairo & Vincennes, Cairo & St. Louis, and Belleville & Southern Illinois Railroads in Illinois; the Cairo Junction, and Paducah & Cairo Railroads in Kentucky, and the Cairo & Fulton and International Pacific Railroads in Missouri, some of which are now in course of construction, and the construction of some of the others provided for, the railroad communications with Cairo will be shortly greatly multiplied.

The country on every side of Cairo, in Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri, is of the most fertile and productive character. All the agricultural products of the North, including wheat and corn, and many of the products of the South, including tobacco, cotton, hemp and flax, are yielded, in its immediate neighborhood, in the greatest abundance and perfection.

Timber, valuable in manufactures, abounds in the immediate neighborhood, on every side, and if this supply should ever be exhausted, Cairo has the entire country above to draw from, as materials can be floated down stream to it from all quarters above, at trifling cost.

Coal of a superior quality, some of which can be used in its natural state in the manufacture of iron, exists in inexhaustible quantities in the neighborhood, and is brought to Cairo by railroad from a point sixty miles distant, and by river transportation from a point on the Mississippi river eighty miles distant. Similar coal is floated to Cairo down the Ohio from Pittsburgh and other places at comparatively trifling cost.

Iron ore is found in Illinois within forty miles of Cairo, and inexhaustible quantities are accessible at cheap cost, both from the Iron Mountain of Missouri, and from the country bordering on the Tennessee river and other tributaries of the Ohio, and experienced manufacturers, after personal examination, have asserted that the junction of the iron and the coal can be effected more cheaply at Cairo than at any other point in the Western country.

Every description of raw material which enters into the production of manufactured articles—the coal which furnishes the power, and the supplies which render the cost of living moderate—being thus easily and cheaply provided at Cairo; and the communications, both by river and railroads, with all points of the country being so numerous and complete, the facilities for cheaply producing and distributing manufactured articles of every description at Cairo are unequaled.

Cairo dates its existence from 1854, when the first lots were sold and the first improvements commenced. It has now about 12,000 inhabitants, who are noted for their intelligence, morality and general enterprise.

Its Public Schools are unsurpassed by any in the State and its public school buildings, one of them costing $32,000 and the other $18,000, besides several others, less costly, would be a credit to any city. These with a Female College of a high order, and several private academies, afford the most ample educational advantages.

Its churches are numerous and well sustained, embracing many of the religious denomications of the country.

Among its public buildings are a County Court House which cost over $60,000, U. S. Custom House, Post Office and U. S. Court Room building, nearly completed, at a cost of $300,000; one Hotel which has cost over $60,000, and others of less size and cost. Among its private dwellings are a number which have cost from $10,000 to $50,000.

Cairo has two National Banks of large capital and established credit; Gas Works of large capacity; Five Founderies and Iron Works; Two Flour Mills of large size; Three Saw Mills; One Distillery; Two Breweries; Two Barrel Factories; Two Furniture Factories; Two Sash and Blind Factories; Two Planing Mills; One Grain Elevator, of the largest capacity, for handling and storing grain in bulk; Seven enormous grain, tobacco and other Warehouses for storing, handling and shipping the agricultural and other products of the country; One Broom Factory; One Dry Dock for repairing steamboats and other vessels; numerous wholesale, retail and commission houses of every description; Five Wharf-boats of great size and capacity for storing, and re-shipping freight; and a paved wharf, equal in construction and convenience to any in the country.

CAIRO.

NEW BOILER WORKS.—A new boiler yard, of which Mr. D. A. Rheutan is proprietor, has been lately established here. Mr. Rheutan is an enterprisng and practical mechanic, having had charge of the largest boiler works in the United States for over nine years. He builds all kinds of boilers, such as Marine, Stationary, Locomotive, Cornish, Upright, Tubular, Horizontal, &c. See advertisement.

The Commission and Forwarding house of Messrs. Halliday & Brothers is the oldest established house in the city. Their shipping conveniences are not equaled by any house in the West, each department being under the supervision of a member of the firm satisfaction is guaranteed.

Cairo is also the center of the finest fruit growing region of the West, and large quantities of every variery of fruit are shipped annually from its neighborhood.

Telegraph College,

No. 213 North Third Street,

OPPOSITE POST OFFICE, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ALSO, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

Established for the special purpose of qualifying young men as Telegraph Operators for the numerous railroads now building throughout the Western States.

P. McEACHREN, - - - Principal and Proprietor.

WITH A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED TEACHERS.

THE design of this Institution is to impart to young men and ladies a complete knowledge of every branch of the Science of Telegraphy, and qualify them them thoroughly so that they may, in a short space of time, be competent to occupy the position of telegrapher on the now numerous telegraph lines building through the country. The College has been for some time in operation and has proved an entire success, which is fully evidenced by the large number of graduates who are now occupying positions on different lines of railroad.

The College is handsomely and comfortably furnished, and is fitted up with all the latest improved Telegraph Machinery—everything requisite to qualify its pupils for an important position in a short time being furnished.

Lectures on Electricity and Practical Telegraphy are given from time to time. A beautiful style of rapid penmanship is also taught by a Professor of a Commercial College.

The College is under the direct management of the Principal, Mr. P. McEACHREN, who is a practical operator of twelve years' experience, who has already qualified a large number of young men in the business, and who are now occupying positions on telegraph lines. The Principal is in constant communication with telegraph and railroad managers through the country, so as to assist graduates to positions as soon as competent.

Each pupil, on entering the College, receives a written guarantee that as soon as competent he shall receive such assistance as will enable him to procure a permanent position as an operator, or the full amount of the tuition fees paid to be refunded.

The salary generally paid operators average seventy-five dollars per month, and to experienced operators one hundred to one hundred and ten dollars per month.

The time occupied in learning averages about three months. Any person of a fair common school education, ordinary ability and intelligence, can become qualified as a sound operator at this College in the above time.

The terms for full course, with guarantee of position, are sixty dollars, payable in advance, or forty dollars in advance, and twenty-three dollars at the expiration of two months.

There are no extra expenses, the College providing all necessary materials.

Board can be obtained at five dollars per week.

No part of the tuition fees refunded for non-completion of the course.

Pupils may enter at any time. College is in session from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Cape Girardeau Directory, 1871-72.

On the west bank of the Mississippi river, one hundred and fifty miles below the city of St. Louis, and fifty miles above the mouth of the Ohio river, in the State of Missouri, is situated the city of Cape Girardeau.

Originally Cape Girardeau was a French military post, where the commander of the district resided. At that time the red man was roaming through the forests in the vicinity, unmolested and undisturbed by any one; gradually the white settlements increased, and the Indian retreated before the advance of civilized society.

In or about the year 1824 Cape Girardeau was incorporated by the legislature as a town, and in the month of February, 1843, as a city.

A few years previous to the latter period an influx of German emigration into the county and town commenced, which, continuing and increasing, conduced materially to the growth and development of county and city.

Occupying a high and beautiful situation, not surpassed, nor hardly equaled, by any city or town on the banks of the river between St. Louis and New Orleans; surrounded by a country of fertile uplands covered with excellent timber of great variety, and having within a few miles of her limits inexhaustible banks of superior clay for porcelain and earthenware, white sand, not to be surpassed for glassware, and hematite iron ore of good quality and inexhaustible quantity; Cape Girardeau contains all the elements of future growth and prosperity, and offers advantages for a diversity of manufactures such as few other places combine.

Cape Girardeau is, and has always been, the main market and shipping point for the productions of the fertile counties of Stoddard, Dunklin and Butler, especially for the cotton raised there; and the trade from this region of country will increase materially whenever the Cape Girardeau & State Line Railroad, which was commenced some time ago and of which a considerable portion is graded, is finished, and an increase of population, development of their resources, and an easy access to market shall thereby be produced in those counties.

CAPE GIRARDEAU.

Among the leading manufactories located at this point, is the Woolen Mills, owned by Messrs. Warren and Williams, which were put in operation during the last year. This firm has erected all the necessary machinery for the manufacture of such woolen goods as flannels, jeans, tweeds, lindseys, blankets, yarns &c. This firm has in contemplation the extension of its facilities for the manufacture of woolen fabrics.

Messrs. Wann & Allers established their present Foundery and Machine Shops here in 1862, and have recently extended their facilities by the addition of an auxilliary furnace, and now make every description of iron and brass castings and hollow ware. They give special attention to the manufacture of plows and cane mills.

Among the leading Commercial and Commission Houses may be noticed the Agricultural depot of Mr. C. H. Morris. This is the leading house in the eastern part of the State for the sale of agricultural implements. Mr. Morris is agent for the latest improved mowers, grain drills, broadcast seeders, cultivators, plows, &c.

Mr. A. B. Dorman, established an Iron house at this place in 1852, and it is the oldest iron house in Eastern Missouri. Mr. Dorman keeps constantly on hand the largest stock of iron, nails, steel, &c., south of St. Louis, and supplies a large southern and western trade.

The Forwarding and Commission house of Messrs. J. & S. Albert has acquired a standard reputation. Their facilities for receiving and shipping are the best in the city.

Messrs. Filbrun & Ivers, Wholesale Grocers and Commission Merchants and Cotton Factors, have been established here since 1858. The promptness and fair dealing of this firm have won them a reputation at home and abroad.

To the traveling public we can not commend too highly the St. Charles Hotel. The proprietor, Mr. Z. Block, is an experienced landlord who undertands the wants of travelers, for which he amply provides. His terms are moderate.

The Storage and Commission house of Mr. F. Tiedemann, located on Water street, has all the necessary conveniences for shipping and receiving, and does a very large business.

The advertisements of the above firms will be found in another part of the Directory.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870.

I believe that a Directory like that being printed by Mr. Boyd will be of the greatest aid to those engaged in distributing the mails.

Assistant Superintendent R. M. Service.

[From the Post Office Gazette of October 1st, 1870, the official organ of the Department.]

BOYD'S POST OFFICE DIRECTORY.—We have received the advance sheets of this work. Every subscriber to the Gazette who desires a complete list of post offices should take the work, for by copying the monthly changes as given in the Gazette into Boyd's book, for which there is a space left, it is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railway post office clerks and route agents, and a most excellent arrangement for the use of special agents.

Chester Directory, 1871-72.

The city of Chester, Randolph county, Illinois, is situated on the Mississippi river, 80 miles below St. Louis, between the mouths of the Okaw and St. Mary's rivers, and is the first point below Alton, on the Illinois side, where the river touches the hills, all the intermediate landings being in the Great American Bottom, and subject to periodical overflow. The situation of Chester is very beautiful and healthy, the city being built on the range of bluffs lying between the Okaw and St. Mary's rivers, which are sufficiently elevated to avoid the miasmatic exhalations of the river bottoms, and afford magnificent and extensive views of river scenery. The faces of the bluffs on the river side are rather precipitous, but are pierced by numerous ravines, affording easy grades for the building of roads from the river to the level land above, on which the city is principally built. On the other side the hills slope gradually back to the great prairie region, distant about ten miles. The river front is best adapted for manufacturing operations—the river affording a plentiful supply of water—and the best and almost the only permanent landing below St. Louis. The Okaw river, emptying into the Mississippi just above the city, is navigable for a portion of the year by small steamboats, and a large quantity of produce is brought to Chester by this route; but the navigation being precarious, and the trade of the river very considerable, a company has been formed, called the "Okaw River Navigation Co.," for the purpose of making slack water navigation. The company has secured State aid for their enterprise, and are now engaged, under the management of Mr. Jno. T. McBride, in preparations for building of dams, locks, &c., and the removal of obstructions in the river. The completion of their enterprise will open the river for a distance of one hundred and fifty miles through the best part of Illinois, and will undoubtedly build up a large and profitable trade for Chester.

The river commerce of the city is already very considerable, it being one of the largest shipping points below St. Louis. The principal article of export is flour; the lands around Chester producing the finest wheat in the United States and giving to Chester flour a reputation second to none in the Union. They are also well adapted for the cultivation of fruit, large quantities of which are disposed of at Chester during the season. Chester was formerly the headquarters of the castor bean trade, and large quantities are still raised in the county. Cotton has also been successfully cultivated, and tobacco to some extent, but wheat being the most profitable crop, most of the farmers confine their attention to that cereal. The wild lands of the neighborhood are covered with a fine growth of excellent timber, well adapted for use in ship building, and the fine rock landing on the river offers unusual facilities for that branch of industry. The manufacture of barrels is largely carried on, and a great deal of timber is consumed in that manner. Most of the mills around Chester obtain their staves and barrels at that point.

The excellent building stone contained in the Chester bluffs, has attracted considerable attention, and in connection with the numerous other natural advantages offered by that place, will probably secure the location of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary at that point by the Legislature during the present session. The immense field of excellent coal underlying the prairies in the neighborhood of Chester, are naturally the main incentive to the development of the country, and the principal inducement for the building of railroads to Chester, that being the only point on the river from which the coal can be approached by rail. The valley of the St. Mary's river, which empties into the Mississippi just below Chester, offers an excellent railroad route to this coal field, and the "Chester and Chicago Branch Junction Railroad Company," organized April 15th, 1870, have located their line through this valley as far as Sparta, twenty-two miles distant, and are now engaged in building their road. They have about three miles of the grading on the Chester end of the road already completed, and expect to complete their road to Sparta by 1st July, 1871. Afterwards it is intended to extend the road to Centralia, connecting there with the Chicago Branch of the Illinois Central, and crossing the "Short line" Cairo and St. Louis Road at or near Coullwoth. The Chester and Tamaroa Railroad Co. are also engaged in building a railroad from Chester to Tamaroa, on the Illinois Central, forty-three miles distant. They have about ten miles of grading completed on the east end of the road and expect to reach Chester by first of July next. Both these roads will run for several miles through this celebrated "Chester Coal Field," and together will furnish ample means for the transportation of this valuable coal to its natural market, the Mississippi river. There are three seams of coal contained in this coal field, the upper of which is alone used as yet. The coal of this seam, which is from six to eight feet thick, has been tested at the Carondelet Iron Furnace, and found admirably adapted, in its raw state, for the smelting of iron, being considered in that respect equal to the celebrated Brier Hill Coal of Ohio. It is of the same character, being a dry bituminous coal, requiring no coking—and is also a very fine fuel and steam coal. The proximity of this seam to the surface—being generally from twenty to thirty feet—and the fine limestone roof above it, renders it, in the opinion of experienced miners, the easiest and cheapest coal to mine in the United States. The lands overlying it are among the best farming lands in Illinois, and are worth for farming purposes alone from thirty to one hundred dollars per acre, while the value of the coal is almost incalculable, there being nearly one hundred thousand acres of coal in Randolph county alone, which in the ground and at a very moderate valuation, would amount to a sum almost sufficient to pay the National debt.

All of this coal region becomes, on the completion of the railroads, tributary to Chester, and the quantity of coal that can be disposed of at that point would be limited only by the means of transportation, the demand for coal on the Mississippi being immensely in excess of the supply, and increasing much more rapidly. Indeed, a "coal famine" on the lower river is of almost periodical occurrence, owing to low water in the Ohio, and the absence of other sources of supply, which causes great inconvenience at all points below Cairo, and advances prices of coal to enormous figures. The navigation of the Mississippi below Chester being uninterrupted and safe, the Chester coal fields when once properly opened, will furnish a sure and regular supply for the Southern markets, and being nearly one thousand miles nearer the Ohio fields, must become the principal dependence of the river for coal, and will probably make Chester the great coal depot of the West.

The great mineral region of Missouri lies immediately opposite Chester, and the inexhaustible deposits of iron and other ores of that region only await the opening of the coal fields to seek a connection with the river. A railroad has already been surveyed from St. Mary's, six miles above Chester, on the Missouri side, to the Iron mountain, thirty miles distant, and will be built as soon as an ample supply of coal at Chester is secured. The union of the minerals of Missouri with the coal of Illinois, thus secured at the most eligible points, must result in an immense developement of all manufacturing industries and the building of large manufacturing towns along the river from St. Louis to Cairo, of these Chester is likely to be a favorite point for all operations requiring abundant and cheap fuel.

EARLY HISTORY.

Chester was founded by Samuel Smith, Thomas Master and J. Lamb in 1829, Mr. Smith having built the first house in the summer of that year. In the fall of the same year Messrs. Master, Lamb & Co. built a storehouse and opened a stock of goods, and Col. R. B. ——— built a mill for the manufacture of castor oil; and in the spring of 1831, Mr. Smith laid off a town site and commenced selling lots. The new town was named Chester by Mrs. Jane Smith, who was a native of Chester in England. The Messrs. Cole built a saw and grist mill and established a horse ferry in 1837; they improved their mill and commenced exporting flour in 1839. The horse-boat gave place to a steam ferry in 1849. Rev. Father Matthews commenced holding religious services in 1833, which was the origin of the Presbyterian church in Chester. In 1836, a frame school house was built and used as a union church until 1846. In 1848, Chester became the county seat of Randolph County, and the Court House, which was then the best in Southern Illinois, was begun the same year. A city charter was granted to Chester by the General Assembly in 1855, and at the first charter election the following city officers were chosen, viz.: Joseph Williamson, Mayor; G. S. Jones and R. H. Crittenden, Aldermen for the first ward; Isaac H. Nelson and Henry Stump for the second ward, and Alfred Whittaker and Frederick Buckman for the third ward.

The improvement of Chester since it became a city has been gradual but steady. It is now a place of about three thousand inhabitants, and is reputed to have the best levee, streets and sidewalks of any city in Southern Illinois. The schools of the city are conducted under the State laws, and are free schools, the primary and intermediate classes attending the ward school houses, and the higher branches being taught in the high school, held in a fine brick school house built by the city in 1857. There are seven churches in Chester, viz.: the Presbyterian, organized in 1840, Rev. C. C. Riggs, first pastor; the Methodist, organized same year, H. Hatton, first pastor; the Baptist, organized in 1842, Rev. P. Peters, pastor; United Presbyterian, organized in 1843, Rev. I. McAuly, pastor; Episcopal, organized in 1844, Rev. Wm. Mitchell, pastor; Lutheran, organized in 1849, Rev. B. Butterman, pastor; Catholic, organized in 1849, Father Perrin, pastor; Ind. Evan. Protestant, organized in 1867, Rev. Chas. Tuemler, pastor. The African Methodists are also building a church. Most of these churches are good buildings and are well attended.

The County Court has lately completed a new jail, said to be the most secure in Southern Illinois; and have also built a fine cut stone fire-proof building for the protection of the records of the county, in which are held the offices of County and Circuit Clerks and Recorder of Deeds.

In 1849, Chester Lodge, No. 57, I. O. O. F. was instituted, Jno. O'Neill, E. Leavenworth, Wm. McKay, I. G. Atkins and Jos. H. Slayton being the charter members. In 1853, Chester Lodge, No. 72, A. F. and A. M. was instituted, R. B. Serant, G. S. Jones and G. W. Staley being charter members. In 1869, Randolph Council, No. 44, R. and S. M., was instituted, Jas. Douglas, Robt. Trewartha, Jacob Keller, A. G. Jones, C. A. Jones, Wm. B. Jones, Wm. Vinyard, M. G. Gorsuch and G. W. Staley being charter members. All these societies are in a flourishing condition.

CHESTER.

Located here are many important manufacturing establishments for the manufacture of thrashing machines, agricultural implements, barrels, lumber, flour, &c.; commission and storage houses for the sale and storage of grain, produce, agricultural implements, lime, cement, salt, &c.; also, houses for the sale of dry goods, groceries, hardware, boots and shoes, hats, caps, etc.

Among the leading Forwarding and Commission Houses in Chester, are J. G. Ballard's and H. B. Nisbet's; they also deal largely in agricultural implements, salt, lime, cement and produce generally. The proprietors of these houses by their fair business transactions have gained a wide reputation.

The popular house of G. S. Jones & Co., has a reputation second to none, Mr. G. S. Jones, the senior member, having been in business in this city for more than one-third of a century, and one of the oldest settlers of Chester. The junior member, Mr. A. G. Jones, is an affable and courteous gentleman and a thorough business man. It is a first-class house.

J. Baronowsky & Co. manufacture thrashing machines, wood saws, railings, iron grave fences, coal grates, plow castings, &c. For economy and convenience the thrashing machine made by this firm has a wide reputation.

Messrs. E. Greenslit & Co. have a large cooperage and lumber yard here, their facilities for making all kinds of barrels is not surpassed by any similar establishment in the State. They also keep a large stock of rough and worked lumber constantly on hand.

The flouring business is well represented in Chester, the mills owned by Messrs. H. C. Cole & Co., manufacturers of FFF, G & Cole's Mills Extra Flour. Their mills are located in Menard, adjoining Chester.

The City Mills are owned by J. B. Holmes, manufacturer of the popular brands of flour, J. B. Holmes, 4 x, Palo Alto, Richmond and Olive Branch, besides supplying a large home consumption, several thousand barrels are shipped annually to other markets.

The hotel accommodations in Chester are good, the Chester Hotel is the only first class hotel in the town, is kept by Mrs. E. T. Anderson in a manner that will give satisfaction to the traveling public.
